

Some 'sharing' ideas from Ms Griffiths

Set up a schedule for the day or week.

You could make an easy plan with rewarding/motivating activities in case you need them. You could use or draw pictures for your plan.

Old Toys.

Root around and find some old toys. Try to share them and play together. Think of new ways to play with them.

Screen Time.

Screen time will be impossible to avoid. Be flexible! Find an activity on screen that you can share together.

Here are some ideas of how you can interact with your child each day. Make shared time fun and enjoyable for you all!

Sensory Fun!

You know your child's sensory needs best – give them what they like! From blanket rolls to fun light shows. Do what you can.

Story Time.

Share a book. Look at the pictures, name things, ask questions or just imagine; depending on what your child will respond to!
